

assembled RNA device

points of integration: ● ● ■

The transmitter can be modified (as shown in the far right inset) to achieve desired device function. The remaining points of integration can be used to assemble devices that exhibit desired information processing operations.